Scheduler 2.0 - FAQ

Question: How do I change the Carrier code of an assigned delivery?

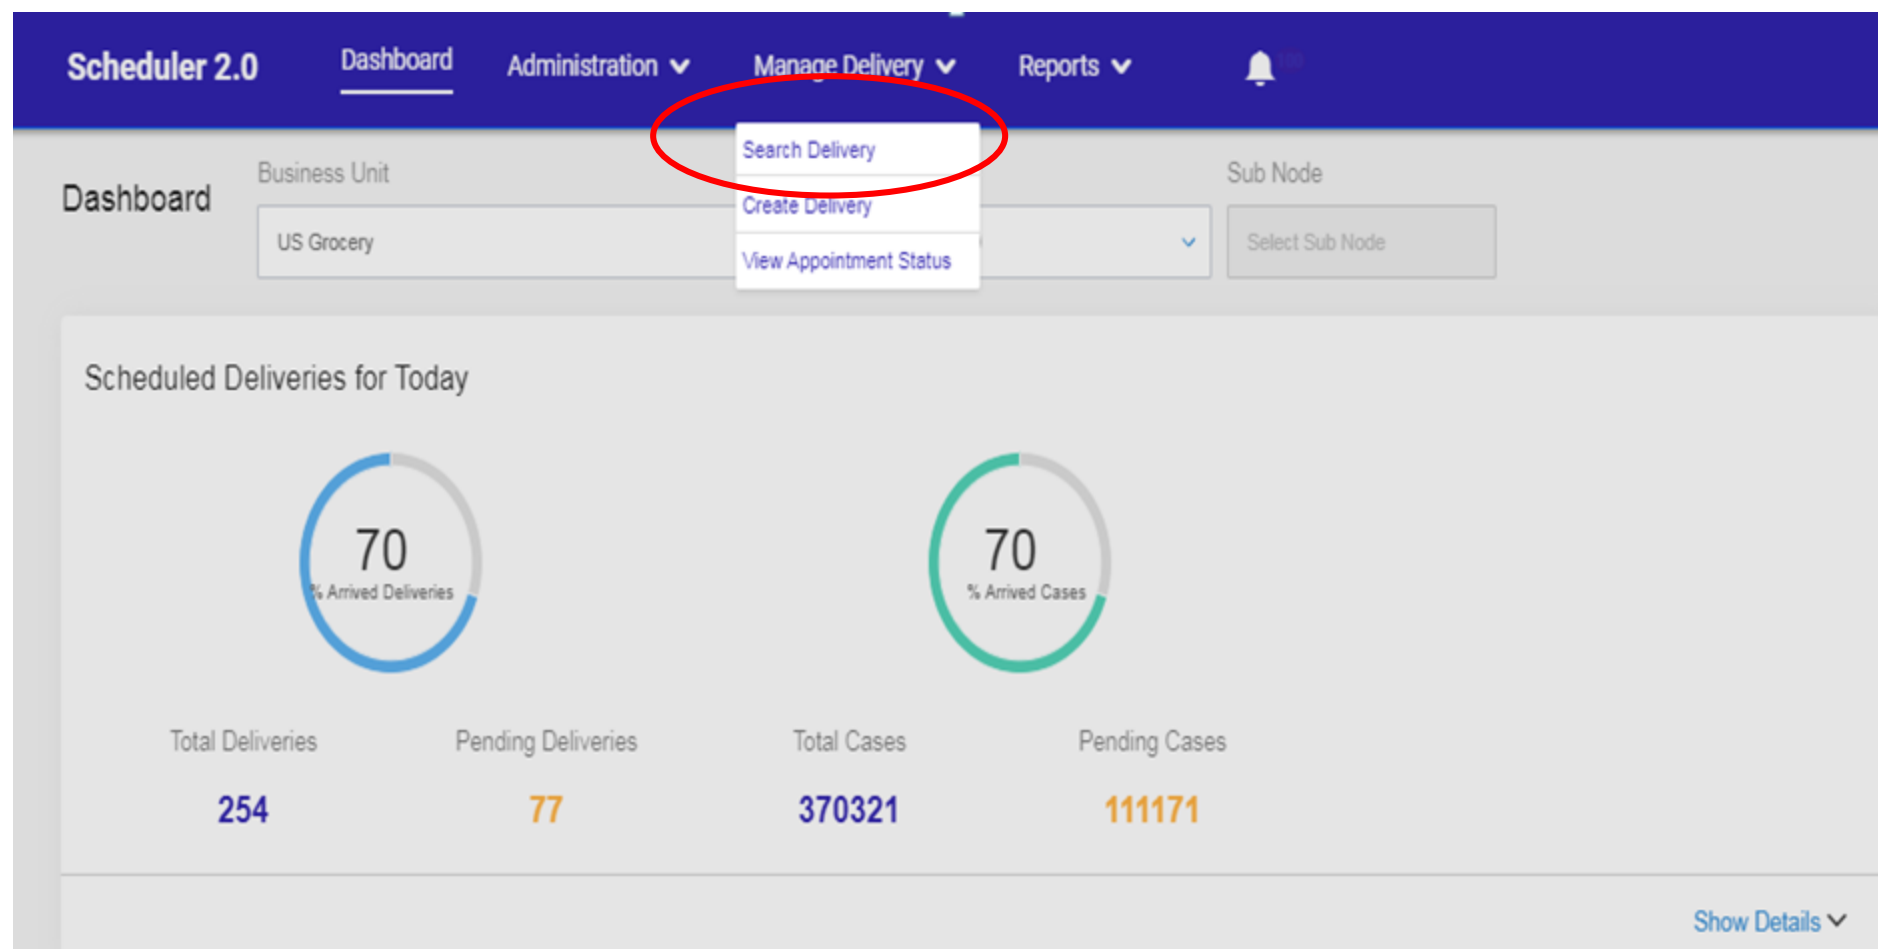

Supporting Info: A supplier can see any load/delivery with their POs, and a carrier can see any delivery assigned specifically to that carrier or carrier group. Automated Scheduling (AIS) pre-assigns a default carrier code in order to schedule. The Default code (PRPD1) can be searched and changed by anyone, providing the delivery is searched by load number, PO, or Delivery number.

Another scenario is when carrier assignments change, then the supplier would be the source to change the SCAC from one carrier to another.

Scheduler 2.0 - FAQ

Question: I am trying to schedule a PO but I get a message stating Available PO Quantity is Zero. What does this mean and how do I proceed?

Supporting Info: A Every PO is created with a quantity pre-assigned to that PO. Scheduler pulls the total quantity of the PO and searches within the application to ensure quantity is still available on the PO. This message is simply telling the user that the available quantity of the PO has already been allocated.

Simply put, this PO is already in the system either saved or on another delivery.

The following pages describe how to research the PO to find where it is already scheduled.

FAQ: Available PO Quantity is Zero

In this example, the user has attempted to create a delivery and the system errors showing the Available PO Quantity is Zero message. The next step is to search to either find a delivery already scheduled or a delivery saved but not scheduled.

Scheduler 2.0 - FAQ

Question: I am trying to add a PO to an existing delivery, What are the steps to add a PO?

Supporting Info: POs can generally be added to an existing delivery if they have not already been scheduled. Some caveats to this is if the case count on the new PO is greater than the case count of an existing PO on the delivery, the Inventory Type may change, causing the system to require a reschedule. If the PO is on another delivery, then the PO must be removed from the existing delivery before it can be added to a different one.

EX 1: PO has not been entered into Scheduler 2.0

Slides in this section assumes the PO is new and has not been used in any other delivery.

EX 2: PO is entered in another delivery along with other POs

This section assumes the PO is in another delivery so we must remove the PO first, then add to another delivery

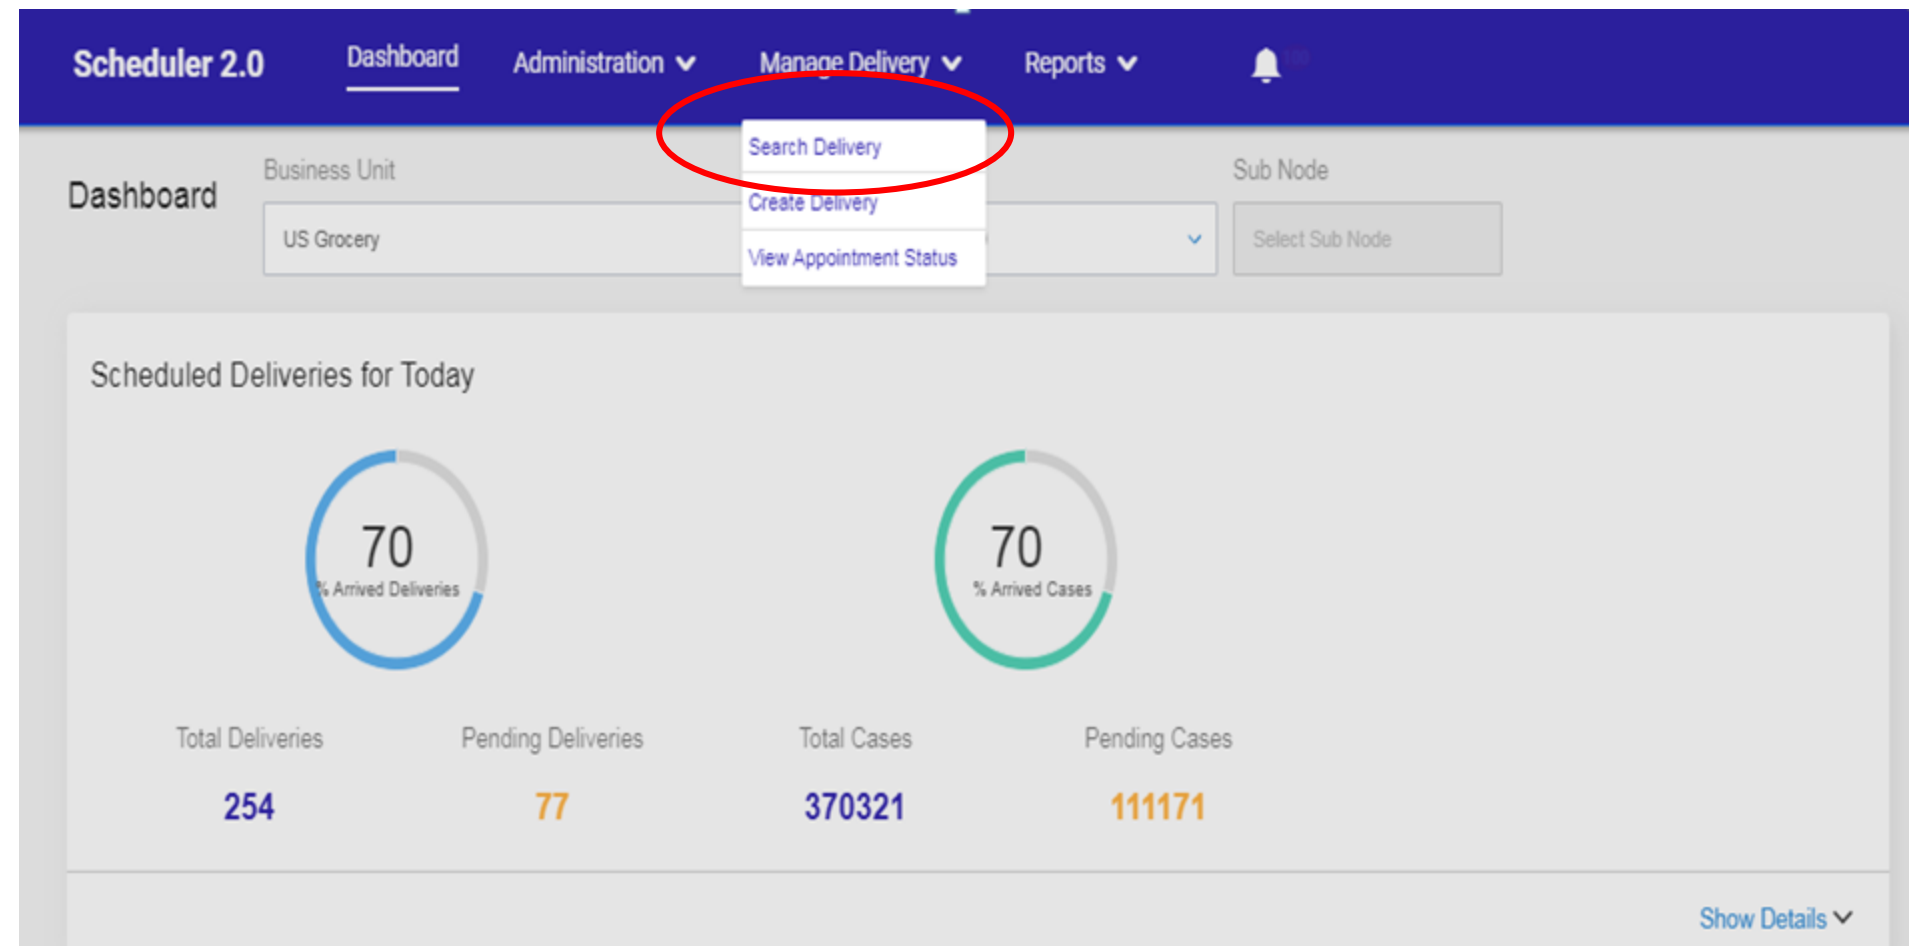

EX 3: PO is entered in another delivery and is the only PO on that delivery

If the PO you want to combine is the single PO on a delivery, then the entire Delivery should be canceled to allow the PO to be used in other deliveries. See the section on Canceling a Delivery, then proceed to EX 1 in this section.
